THE PROJECT

London Dock has seen a former working dock transform into a vibrant residential neighbourhood in historic Wapping. The development comprised of a mix of high specification new homes, retail outlets and restaurants.

CHALLENGES

For the London Dock project , Principal Doorsets needed the wooden surfaces to match the dyed veneer specified by the architects. Previously, solid wood would be machined and dyed to match the veneer, a time consuming and inconsistent approach.

SOLUTION

Working closely with their project managers and designers, Merenda were able to provide door frames, stops and door lippings using the specified veneer. These pieces were finished with the same finishes as the flat panels, ensuring consistency across the build.

RESULTS

Using Merenda Surface solutions throughout the project, Principal Doorsets were able to complete a complicated project on time and on budget.

LONDON DOCK

“Merenda understood from the outset the complexity of the London Dock residential project, Particularly the knowledge of the intricacies of using dyed wood veneer, matching and laying grain”

“Merenda took a hands on approach throughout their organisation, never shirked their responsibilities and were always looking for solutions to any unforeseen issues that arose.

“We received samples, costings and lead times promptly, allowing us to deliver an excellent service to our client and in turn allowing them to rest easy in the knowledge that the supply chain was understanding of the needs of the project in both quality and delivery performance”

About Merenda Surface

What is it

Merenda Surface offers a bespoke veneer solution for any furniture component that may exist within a space; whether it's for wall panelling, doors, gables, door frames, doorsets, or kitchen cabinets- if it's got a surface Merenda can veneer it.

Why choose us

Many companies do not have the facilities or the expertise in processing veneer- Merenda do! We have spent the last 30+ years in resolving design led challenges around veneer. We are known within the industry as experts in natural veneer and also specialise in using dyed veneers like Tabu and Alpi.

Value

We can take a difficult design specification and resolve it by offering a bespoke veneer solution. Our clients appreciate the flexibility of Merenda products that allow many different veneer components to seamlessly join together for an exceptionally high-end finish to their projects. Through doing this, we take the specialist pain away, problem solve complex veneer joinery issues, helping our clients save significant time and money.
